

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A serving platter for holding food and a beverage container is held by one hand of a user by insertion of a thumb into a thumb hole centrally located on the platter. Eating accessories are also held on the platter. A hand strap may be used to stabilize the platter. The platter is reinforced to prevent dropping the contents of the platter.